Grandview Medical Center Celebrates Construction Milestone

Physicians Office Building and Parking Deck Reach Full Height

Birmingham, AL (January 16, 2015) –The Grandview Medical Center development team today celebrated a critical milestone, as the new physicians office building and parking deck, which both connect to the existing hospital structure, reached their pinnacle with the completion of their highest cast-in-place concrete levels.

During the ceremony, the field team was recognized for their hard work to top out the project, marking significant progress toward the completion of construction on the Grandview Medical Center campus.

“This is a milestone worth celebrating,” said Brasfield & Gorrie Senior Project Manager Tres Jernigan. “We have reached the top of the new structures with a significant portion of the work completed by our own labor force.”

Following construction industry tradition, the field crew erected a tree and an American flag at the structure’s highest point to commemorate this achievement. Approximately 1,000 construction team members and hospital staff attended the event.

“We are thrilled to see our campus taking shape day by day,” said Trinity Medical Center President and CEO Keith Granger. “This facility will serve an area of the community that has experienced rapid growth and an increasing need for immediate access to healthcare. We appreciate the diligence of Brasfield & Gorrie, A.G. Gaston, Earl Swensson Associates, all contractors and subcontractors, and other project team members who helped make this achievement possible.”

Grandview Medical Center includes the 12-story, 1 million sq ft hospital, a connected 2,900-space parking deck and the 220,000 sq ft physicians office building. Designed to be a state-of-the-art outpatient companion to the nationally ranked hospital, Grandview Physicians Plaza will be centered on patients’ care needs, offering ease of access to advanced technologies and patient-focused services. The well-appointed physicians office building will feature eight floors of newly-designed, efficient office suites. Grandview Physicians Plaza will be the gateway to Alabama’s newest medical campus and provide excellent visibility and accessibility to physicians, patients, visitors and staff.

The project is on schedule to open October 2015.
